Dilution

The actual cost of purchasing or selling investments may be higher or lower than the mid-market value used in calculating the share price for a Sub-Fund. For example, due to dealing charges or through dealing at prices other than the mid-market price.

Under certain circumstances (for example, where subscription or redemption activity result in higher trading costs borne by a sub-fund), this may have an adverse effect on the Shareholders’ interest in the Sub-Funds. As dilution is directly related to the inflows and outflows of monies from a Sub-Fund it is not possible to predict accurately whether dilution is likely to occur.

The Prospectus does not currently provide that an anti-dilution levy may be imposed on subscription or redemption requests.

Additional Information

Shareholders in the Company are not liable for the debts of the Company, or any Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Funds are single-priced. There will only be a single price for any Share as determined from time to time by reference to a particular Valuation Point.

Unless otherwise stated in the relevant Sub-Fund Supplement, it is intended that the Sub-Funds can use derivatives for the purpose of efficient portfolio management (including hedging) in respect of any Sub-Fund. The use of derivatives for the purpose of efficient portfolio management is not expected to increase the risk profile of the Company or the relevant Sub-Fund. Where a Sub-Fund may use derivatives for investment purposes, this is stated in the relevant Sub-Fund Supplement.

The Net Asset Value of certain Sub-Funds may have high volatility owing to their portfolio composition and/or the portfolio management techniques that may be used. Shareholders should review the relevant Sub-Fund Supplement for information on the likely level of volatility for each Sub-Fund.
